

Isha Mittal

(Department Of English, Miranda House, University Of Delhi)

Greek Gods in The Odyssey

In the realms where Zeus is the head,
Athena, makes Penelope sleep when she cries in her bed,
Boosting Telemachus' confidence, the future seed,
He is truly in strength Odysseus' breed,
Fed up with the suitors' greed,
Athena tells him the way,
It gives Telemachus a new ray,
Disguised as Mentos, to Pylos they went,
Meanwhile poor Odysseus is stuck in Circe's tent,
She is in love with the king,
Immortality to Odysseus she offered to bring,
But then came Hermes who helped him leave,
Polyphemus, the king had blinded, his strength you can't believe,

Poseidon, the earthquake god, was angry and miseries created,
At Scylla's island they were not well treated,
Before that Calypso had greeted,
Who turned his companions to pigs pink,
Through her drink,
But they were saved,
With the promise Odysseus forced Calypso to make,
She was also in love with Odysseus but he had to leave for Penelope's sake,
At Scylla's island all were killed,
That is what Poseidon had willed.

Finally, Odysseus returned to his kingdom safe,
Where it was the suitors' wave,

Disguised as a beggar he made a plan,
Eumaeus and Telemachus both in his clan,
Killed all hundred and eight,
That's not all wait,
Know the disloyal servants' fate,
Who were all hanged,
Peace was established at the end,
The reuniting of Penelope and Odysseus is grand,
As he passes her test, explains the constructed bed of bamboo tree,
And finally meeting his father Odysseus from his miseries is free.